

BOWMAN'S HILL WILDFLOWER PRESERVE

2006 Winter Lecture Series
Sunday Afternoons in January & February
at the Preserve's Visitor Center
2 - 3 p.m.

- January 8 Seeing the Forest and the Trees - Ann F. Rhoads Free
- January 15 Amphibians in the Garden - James F. White
- January 22 Plant Galls of Fields, Forests and Backyards - Carol C. Mapes
- January 29 Colonial and Native American Herbs - Jeannine Vannais
- February 5 The Best Kept Secret in the Gardening World: Hardy Terrestrial Orchids - William Mathis
- February 12 Hedgerows: Echoes of our Vernacular Rural Landscape - David Hughes
- February 19 Creating Ecologically Functional Landscapes with Native Trees, Shrubs and Groundcovers - Reeser C. Manley
- February 26 Working with Nature: Native Plants for Rain and Water Gardens - Judy Glattstein

Cost per lecture:

Preserve members/Full-time students: $8

Non-members: $10

Special January 8 lecture FREE,*

compliments of

Bowman's Hill Wildflower Preserve

Special offer: Purchase a book of tickets for the complete series and save 20%!

Preserve members and students: $45 (full price: $56)

Non-members: $56 (full price: $70)

Ticket books may be purchased in advance by calling the Preserve or will be available at the door.

For more information or to pre-register call (215) 862-2924

Walk-ins welcome as space permits

Bowman's Hill Wildflower Preserve is located at 1635 River Road, 2.5 miles south of New Hope.

P.O. Box 685 New Hope, PA 18938 www.bhwp.org